GENERAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING

This is to provide notice of the General Membership Meeting on November 18th at 4:00 pm

This is open to Lakeside Friends of the Library "members" only. There will not be a regular Board Meeting on November 9th.

The meeting will be the new Lakeside Library and is open only to our membership. We will be going over projected budget, minutes and treasury reports from our last meeting as well as brief updates for the coming year for our own Lakeside Friends of the Library. Following the meeting there will be a reception/open house held from 4:30-7:00 pm to thank all members and donors for supporting the new Lakeside Library.

As you know the new library is coming and opening up at some point very s-o-o-n! No date yet!. Please join us for this very special evening and please RSVP by November 4th if you plan to attend.

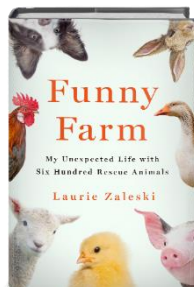

Thank you!

BOOK REVIEW

by Dawn Espedal

My book recommendation is Funny Farm, by Laurie Zaleski.

This is non-fiction, a true story about Laurie and her life. She never thought about running a ranch with over 600 animals as that was her mom's dream.

Laurie's mom ended up dying and the running of the farm with animals was thrust upon her. She has turned it into a sanctuary for all kinds of animals. Surprisingly, a lot of animals that you would not expect to get along do get along with each other. This farm is in New Jersey and is open to the public a couple days a week. Laurie is now taking volunteers to help with the farm chores as she was doing it all by herself. Click the YouTube link, to watch an interview with Laurie talking about Funny Farm:

Looking for a good book? Maybe a mystery or romance? During the month of October, the Lakeside Friends of the Library will have all books on sale whether hardback, paperback, fiction or non-fiction. These books will be 3 for $1. What a deal!! Children's books will be 5 for $1. Even a better deal. Stop by and visit our shelves in the library.

We appreciate your book donations.

We have limited room. We are suspending donations for the time being unless you have already made arrangements with us. We will let you know when we will be asking for more.

"Who Needs a Librarian and Cataloger When You Have Google and Internet? Well, Who Needs a Teacher When You Have Wikipedia? And, Who Needs a Doctor When You Have WebMD? Just as the Wikipedia Doesn't Replace the Teacher, and WebMD Doesn't Replace the Doctor, In the Same Way, Google Search and Internet Doesn't Replace the Librarian and Cataloger."

BOOKSTORE VOLUNTEERS

We will be having a meeting for all those that have volunteered to work in the new bookstore whether or not the County has approved your application yet. It will be held at my home on Thursday, October 13, 2002 at 10:00 am. Please mark your calendars.

I will be sending each of the volunteers more details via an e-mail. This will be an opportunity for all of us to meet prior to working any shifts. We will go over expectations, sorting process, prices, genres and timelines.

If you are still interested in volunteering, please complete a Volunteer Application. Once our form is completed, return it to the library and staff will give you an application from San Diego County. This application form needs to be returned as soon as possible in person so that we can get the vetting process done. They will need to see your driver's license and social security card. The County vetting process can take 6-8 weeks, so please be patient. This is needed before you can volunteer in a bookstore connected to the library. The County has additional requirements to volunteer within the library.

Please contact Carlene Rocheck at 619-443-1811 or Caprice at 619-631-5614 for additional information.

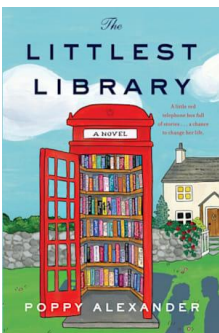

BOOKS SET IN LIBRARIES

Taken from Bookbub.com

by Melissa Flandreau June 24, 2022

Since we can't actually live in a library, we'll have to settle for reading more stories about them and the librarians who work there. From a page-turning thriller set in a Boston library to a heartfelt tribute to the connections that books can create, these compelling novels all fit the bill. Read on to see which one you should curl up with next.

The Littlest Library by Poppy Alexander

When Jess's grandmother passes away and she also loses her job, Jess decides a change is needed — so she moves to the English countryside. There, she discovers an old British phone box on her property, and decides to fill it with her grandmother's collection of books. Soon, her tiny new library starts to bring the whole village together, and pushes Jess to open up her own heart.

The Library: the uplifting and feelgood page-turner you need to read in 2022 by Bella Osborne

A story of an unlikely friendship, The Library is a charming read from start to finish. To win over his crush, 16-year-old Tom turns to romance novels at the library, where he forms a bond with 72-year-old Maggie. While helping each other grow, the pair also bands together to keep the library from closing.

The Night of Many Endings by Melissa Payne

When a winter storm sweeps through Silver Ridge, Colorado, a group of strangers — including librarian Nora Martinez — finds themselves stranded at the library. As they wait out the storm, they must face their own struggles and find room for change and second chances. Booklist calls The Night of Many Endings “richly layered and compassionate to its core.”

The Reading List by Sara Nisha Adams

Book lovers won't be able to put down this moving story of friendship and the power of reading. In an effort to connect with his granddaughter, widower Mukesh heads to the library where he meets Aleisha, a teenager who's found a summer job at the checkout desk. When Aleisha shares a reading list she's found in the back of To Kill a Mockingbird, she sparks an unlikely a bond between the unlikely ...

A Girl During the War by Anita Abriel

From the author of The Light After the War comes a gripping novel of love, art, and friendship set during World War II. After her father is killed, Marina Tozzi finds refuge at a villa owned by Bernard Berenson, her father's friend, and librarian Belle de Costa Greene, who curated J.P. Morgan's library. There, as she helps Bernard catalog his own library, Marina falls for their neighbor, Carlos —

The Book of Form and Emptiness by Ruth Ozeki

After Benny Oh's father dies, objects — from teapots to sneakers — start talking to him. To get away from the voices, the 14-year-old seeks refuge at the public library, where objects know to speak in whispers. Powerful and poignant, The Book of Form and Emptiness will stay with readers long after the final page.

A capacity, and taste, for reading gives access to whatever has already been discovered by others.

—Abraham Lincoln
